Coronary arteries, closest to the heart, receive the greatest pressure, and without enough Vitamin C, the collagen weakens, resulting in heart attack. Now, the work of Dr. Sydney Bush shows that Vitamin C plus Lysine can not only prevent atherosclerosis but also reverse this process. Join Dr. Walker as he reviews the research and learn about this potent combination for fighting and reversing heart disease. Dr. Gifford-Jones is a graduate of the U of T and The Harvard Medical School.
